

Memories of a
Long Distance Friendship

NY Table #28

In 1985 there was a Zaff held on the Isle of Wight. Scott and I stayed at the home of Brenda, Erika and Jon Eberhardt, in Southsea. This is my first recollection of anyone from the New York Table going abroad to a Zaff. After the weekend on the Isle we all sailed back to Portsmouth on "Jon", a cold and blustery trip.

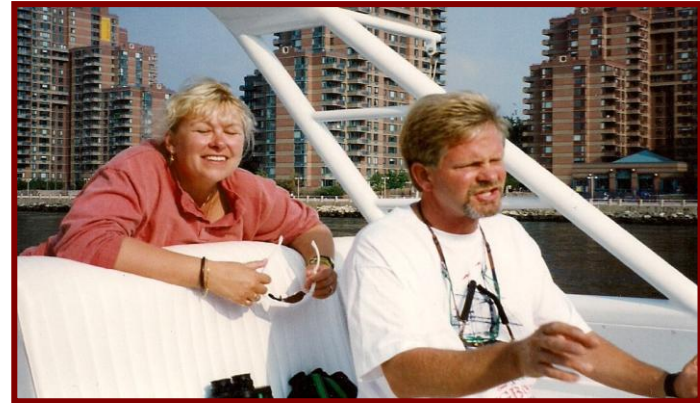

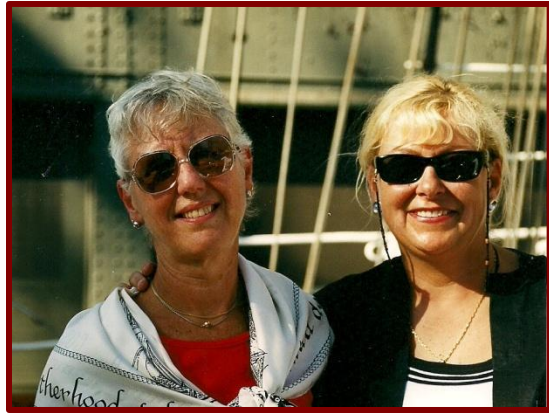

The First World Zaff was held in New York in July 1986. Erika stayed at our house on City Island, bringing two huge duffels of clothing and gear, because she was then headed to St. Thomas to be a chef on a large power boat. She told the story afterwards that she got to the dock, in a rain storm, only to find that the yacht had already departed with another chef. She found another job on a yacht which began her new career.

February 1992 – a photo Erika sent to me. I believe it was when Paul became a Brother in Florida.

Every once in a while, in the summer, the phone would ring and it would be Erika. "Where are you?", I would say. Her reply would be, "in Long Island Sound. Can you meet us tomorrow and go for a ride to...?" This time it was around the tip of Manhattan to a pier in New Jersey. Once docked we enjoyed the sunset and champagne.

Erika was always smiling, is that not so? This is how I will remember her.
